

INVESTMENT STRATEGY

The investment objective of the Fund is to achieve a persistent return with a low level of volatility over the long term and thus to overhaul the rate of inflation and returns on bank deposits in the long run. For this purpose, the Fund invests mainly in high-quality corporate bonds from issuers from the Czech Republic, supplemented by issuers from the EU and possibly other countries, in money market instruments, reverse repo operations and other fixed income instruments. To ensure stability, the fund will use hedging of exchange rate risk against CZK, or interest rate risk using financial derivatives. Current coupons are reinvested and are further appreciated. The Fund does not actively track any index or benchmark.

PORTFOLIO MANAGER'S COMMENTARY

A moderate tracking down of benchmark yields and firmer prices helped stabilise European and CEE credit markets in December. The Fund's unit price rose 0.33% last month. The year-end NAV closed out a 4.2% gain in 2025, implying a 5.4% annualised return in CZK terms since the inception of the Fund. Coupon income from the portfolio's holdings and returns from our hedging of Euro-denominated bonds into Koruna helped boost returns in December and throughout 2025. Both the ECB and the CNB, as expected, kept their policy interest rates on hold in their mid-December meetings. The current policy rate levels of 2.0% in the Eurozone and 3.5% in the Czech Republic have now been in place for several months. Issuance activity in markets was predictably quiet in December, meaning that the number of holdings in the Fund remains at a diversified 58, while the Fund's gross yield-to-maturity sits at 5.2%.
