

INVESTMENT STRATEGY

The investment objective of the Fund is to achieve a persistent return with a low level of volatility over the long term and thus to overhaul the rate of inflation and returns on bank deposits in the long run. For this purpose, the Fund invests mainly in high-quality corporate bonds from issuers from the Czech Republic, supplemented by issuers from the EU and possibly other countries, in money market instruments, reverse repo operations and other fixed income instruments. To ensure stability, the fund will use hedging of exchange rate risk against CZK, or interest rate risk using financial derivatives. Current coupons are reinvested and are further appreciated. The Fund does not actively track any index or benchmark.

PORTFOLIO MANAGER'S COMMENTARY

European and Czech fixed income markets stabilised in April following the Third Gulf War's 7 April ceasefire. The Fund's NAV gained back a good portion of March's losses, rising 0.7%, translating to a year-to-date return of 0.8%. Inflation concerns in markets persist, with energy prices remaining elevated, probably limiting the scope for a sustained rally in benchmark bonds. Consumer price Inflation rose to 3.0% and 2.5% year-on-year in the Eurozone and the Czech Republic respectively in April. Commentators see a first interest rate hike from the ECB as coming in June 2026. The Fund maintained its interest rate hedging in this environment, reflecting this ongoing uncertainty around the path of policy rates. We took advantage of market pricing to add to holdings in real estate developer CTP and bought into the new issues of Deutsche Bank, EUTelsat, pan-European logistics player VGP and Romgaz. The portfolio now has 61 holdings. The gross yield-to-maturity stands at 5.8%, continuing to offer an attractive carry relative to cash, while the energy sector exposure provides partial protection against inflation risks.
