

INVESTMENT STRATEGY

The investment objective of the fund is an above-average appreciation of the entrusted funds in a longer time horizon of investments on the capital markets according to the EnCor investment model. The fund allocates funds to all major asset classes, especially stocks, bonds, commodities and money market instruments. The fund invests primarily in cost-effective index funds (ETF/ETC), but also in individual shares, bonds and other instruments, mainly in CZK, EUR and USD. Current earnings are reinvested and further appreciated. The fund does not follow any comparative benchmark, but an absolute return target that in the long term outperforms the performance of a fixed portfolio (70% stocks / 30% bonds) while having lower volatility.

PORTFOLIO MANAGER'S COMMENTARY

The Fund's NAV rose 1.34% in September, capping off a firm recovery of 2.93% in the third quarter. The portfolio's Q3 tilt away from bonds into equities helped boost returns. Czech shares again out-performed, the PX Index gaining 3% to fresh all-time highs. The CZK again rose, 1% versus the USD, trimming returns from most non-CZK denominated equity ETFs to low single-digit Koruna gains. US Tech shares nevertheless stood out, jumping 7% in CZK terms, with continued speculation in the AI sphere expanding valuations of related companies and the IT sector more broadly. All-time highs also in the US and several other equity markets reflect ample liquidity in the global financial system and wide government budget deficits ultimately supporting earnings momentum in constituent companies. At the same time, the performance of gold (up 10% in CZK) and flat returns from US government bonds both indicate disquiet over the trajectory of inflation, longer-dated bond yields, geopolitics in Europe and the Middle East and US and French government paralysis. Positions in Czech cash and bonds again helped steady returns last month.
