WHAT PRODUCT IS IT?

Product type: open-ended mutual fund, namely a special collective investment fund.

Aims: The Fund's investment objective is to achieve stable appreciation over the long term with low volatility. To this end, the Fund will invest mainly in fixed income instruments such as government and corporate bonds issued by issuers mainly from the Czech Republic, supplemented by issuers from the EU or other countries, money market instruments, reverse repo operations and other instruments. To a lesser extent and depending on the expected development of the markets, the Fund may invest in riskier asset classes such as equities or commodities. The objective is to maximise returns in Czech koruna. To ensure stability or increase returns, the Fund will use partial or full hedging of exchange rate risk against the CZK, interest rate risk and other risks by means of financial derivatives. The Fund does not intend to track any index or indicator, nor does it actively copy any index. The Fund does not have a specific objective in relation to any industry, geographic or other market sector or specific asset classes. Gains and income from the Fund's performance attributable to Class A Units will be reinvested by the Fund and will be reflected in the increased value of a Class A Unit of the Fund.

Neither the return on investment in the Fund nor the return on such investment is assured or guaranteed. The Fund is not a secured or guaranteed investment fund, and no guarantees are given by third parties to investors in this regard.

For whom the product is intended: The Fund can be offered to the public, or the public is entitled to acquire the Fund's units. Investing in the Fund is suitable for investors who want to achieve stable appreciation with a lower level of risk and wish to incorporate this type of investment into their portfolio. The investor should be able to accept a temporary period of negative development in the value of the unit. Due to the risks to which the Fund's investments may be exposed, it is not recommended to acquire Units on credit. The recommended investment horizon is 3 years.

Lifespan of the fund: The Fund was created for an indefinite period of time. In view of this, there is no maturity date.

Other information: the fund's depository is UniCredit Bank Czech Republic and Slovakia, a.s. The administrator of the fund is WOOD & Company investment company, a.s. Further information about the Fund, including the Articles of Association, annual reports, and practical information, including the current product value, is available free of charge in Czech on the website www.encoram.com.

WHAT RISKS AM I TAKING AND WHAT RETURN COULD I ACHIEVE?

Description of risk and return profiles

The Fund is subject to the general risks associated with investing in investment funds (e.g., market, credit, operational and currency risk), other general risks extended by the investment strategy (e.g., concentration risk) and specific risks associated with the investment strategy (e.g., liquidity risk). A detailed description of the risks is contained in the statutes, and a detailed description of the returns is contained in the annual report. The Fund is denominated in Czech koruna, but also invests in foreign currency assets. However, currency risk is actively managed with the aim of maximising returns in Czech koruna.

Sustainability risks are considered in accordance with the published policy on the integration of risks into investment decision-making processes.

Summary Risk Indicator (SRI)

Lower risk Higher risk
← Potentially lower yields Potentially higher yields →
1	2	3	4	5	6	7

The aggregate risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely the product is to lose money due to market movements or because we are unable to pay you. We have ranked this product as Class 2 out of 7, which is the second lowest risk class.

The risk indicator assumes that you keep the product for 3 years. The actual risk can vary significantly if you cash out the product at the initial stage and you may get less money back. The risk of the product may be significantly higher than that shown in the summary risk indicator if the product is not held for the recommended holding period; section 'How long should I hold the investment? Can I withdraw money early?' sets out more detailed conditions.

Other risks not reflected in the SRI

Operational risk is realized in the form of losses resulting from internal process deficiencies or failures, human factors, or external events.

Settlement risk is associated with the fact that the settlement of a transaction does not take place as expected due to counterparty default or liquidity constraints, e.g., suspension of redemption of units of underlying funds.

Maximum possible investor loss

The maximum potential loss represents the investor's entire investment (the amount invested or the current value of the investment). In addition to the capital invested, the investor does not bear the risk of incurring any other financial liabilities or obligations (including contingent liabilities).
